Aims and Scope

International Journal of Excellent Leadership (IJEL) is an open access publication affiliated to ELA Publishing. IJEL is an international double-blind, peer-reviewed journal which publishes original research studies and conceptual articles on excellent leadership practices and policy implementations from all over the world. IJEL adheres strictly to double blind peer review process to maintain the publication standards and practices. The journal aims to cater to the needs of the researchers, scholars, academicians and schools that interest educational study, leadership education. IJEL is to promote continuous improvement for everybody and schools through excellent leadership practices and a systemic collaborative approach. The IJEL seeks articles on timely and critical issues from educators and researchers in all educational settings, including K-12 public and private schools, higher education and governmental institutions. After the rigorous peer review process, IJEL publishes manuscripts that include original primary research that can be quantitative, qualitative studies, mixed method empirical analyses, literature reviews, new conceptualizations of educational policies and leadership practices in all areas in the field of education and educational sciences. Published semiannually, the IJEL is designed to establish a global network among scholars, policymakers and educational leaders to improve schools and student achievement through excellent leadership practices. IJEL accepts all original studies leading in the field of education for publication.

Open Access Policy

The IJEL strongly adopts and uses the Open Access Policy initiative. All articles published in the IJEL can be accessed by anyone with internet connection around the world. Abstracts and full texts of all articles published by the IJEL are freely accessible to everyone immediately after publication.

Publication Charges

There are no publishing fees for IJEL.

Publication Ethics

IJEL is committed to upholding the integrity of the academic record. When an author submits a manuscript for publication consideration, Author agrees to abide by publication requirements of IJEL.

IJEL editors encourage authors to refer to the Committee on Publication Ethics' International Standards for Authors (<https://publicationethics.org/resources/resources-and-further-reading/international-standards-editors-and-authors>). Authors are reminded to check their proofs carefully to confirm that all author information, including names, affiliations, sequence and contact details are correct, if any, are accurate. Manuscripts received for review are treated as confidential documents by IJEL.

Paideia Schools as an Alternative Education

Prologue

When we look at the changes and developments in the world since the existence of human beings, we can talk about a tremendous progress. As a matter of fact, it is possible to see this situation in every field from health to education. Considering the point reached, there is the love of human beings to constantly improve and the satisfaction they get from this. Man's pursuit of excellence has opened all doors to him, leading to his development and progress. Of course, the contribution of educational organizations in the development and improvement of human beings is very high. Societies, aware of this fact, have started to make more efforts for the development of educational organizations and the education offered there. Naturally, so the effort spent, their welfare level has become better. As a matter of fact, developed countries have realized this and started to invest more in education and benefit more from its blessings. Developed countries' pursuit of excellence in education shows a big difference compared to developing or underdeveloped countries. Developed countries can use enormous resources to improve education and training. They are aware that the return on every investment made in education will be higher. Based on this fact, developed countries accept the investment made in education as a necessity for better education. It makes this investment not only for educational organizations but also for all stakeholders that keep that organization alive. Everyone, from the school principal to the parents, who are the stakeholders of educational organizations, aim to achieve the best depending on using the opportunities offered to them in the best way. All stakeholders need to make an effort for this. It should not be forgotten that education stakeholders can only contribute to the development and advancement of education to the extent that they improve themselves. They need resources that can assist them in their development. Considering that the need for information is enhancing day by day, those who set their heart on training should do something to meet this need. We wanted to contribute to education and those who love it with IJEL. We will be happy if we can make a small contribution to humanity and the progress of education with the papers we publish.

It should be noted that excellent schools where excellent education is provided can be created with excellent leaders (teachers, school principals, parents, guardians, students). IJEL is a journal where educators who have made the pursuit of excellence a way of life and people who are devoted to education can find original articles. IJEL accepts all original studies leading in the field of education for publication. In our second issue, we brought together researchers from different countries with our readers. As the IJEL team, we know and believe that each new study will be an idea to someone. And these studies will lead to better things for human beings who benefit from them. We, as those who set the light and carry the torch, are happy to do what needs to be done. We will continue to increase our contribution from now on. We know that our path and every individual we serve on this path are worth it. Providing the best service to the most honorable of their assets is the greatest of our services. Goodbye to meet in the new issue and in the new year.

Warmest regards,

Erkan Kiral
